We are constantly looking for new project development opportunities in Chile, being open to different kind of involvement alternatives, with preference on projects in which we can have an operational control of the mining and processing activities, as well as managing the product sales.

If you have an iron ore project of interest you want to sell or want to consider a joint venture for developing an iron mining project with us, please let us know. We have the capacity and expertise to develop small to mid-size projects which are not in the scope of the big iron producers.
