

Executives

Ramón Fam Romero, General Manager

Holds a Geologist title, obtained at the Universidad de Chile in Santiago. Since he finished his studies in 1969 he worked doing exploration and mining geology in Chile for different companies. In 1981 he started to work independently as consulting geologist and later formed his own consulting company providing geological services for several of the most important exploration and mining companies in Chile, in Peru and Argentina. He has more than 40 years of recognized career and experience in economic geology. He was the founder of CEMSA, where his work has been the base for the selection and development of our first iron project put into production during 2012.

Ramón Fam Mancilla, Finance & Commercial Manager

Holds a Bachelor title in Business Administration and Economics, obtained at Universidad Gabriela Mistral, at Santiago, Chile. During his 18 years of professional career he has been working with success on different businesses that started as small family enterprises, which had become professional organizations and leaders in their respective markets. He is in charge of developing all commercial and financial aspects of our company.